FLOODS PLAGUE SOUTH: More than seven-thousand persons are temporarily homeless and at least nine are known to have drowned in the south and southeast as rains and high buffeted the eastern half of the nation. Here flood waters from the Chattahoochee River has inundated the industrial areas of West Point, Georgia, along the Georgia-Alabama border. This is typical of hard-hit areas in Georgia-Alabama and Mississippi that have been swept by floods following week-long torrential rains.

10,000 Homeless In Flooded South

Swollen rivers continued to pour over a stricken Southland today, where 10,000 or more persons have been left homeless. Damage from week-long floods in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi will run into millions of dollars.

The Big Job: JOBS

If your youngsters are now around the age of 8 to 12, they'll be looking for a job in about nine years. Finding one may be a good deal tougher than it is today.

By that time, some 87 million Americans are expected to be in the country's work force. But in many fields the job opportunities may by then have dwindled sharply.

In countless instances this has already happened. Automation-the introduction of automatic or nearly automatic equipment to do productive work -has wiped out thousands upon thousands of jobs. There are said to be half a million fewer full time jobs in the nation now than in 1958.

Your boy would find the pay good in the steel industry. The trouble is, his chances of hooking on there have been cut in two, and likely will be reduced further in the years ahead. General Electric says a "push-button" steel mill will be here soon.

Automobile plants have always been highly mechanized, but the trend is now to the fantastic. In a Cleveland factory, one automatic unit performs more than 500 individual operations. It can turn out 100 engine blocks in a single hour.

Looked at your radio's "works" lately? It's a complex thing. Yet today two men can put together 1,000 radios a day, an output that once required 200

The next time you step into a building elevator, you'll probably find that it's automatic. The switch, which can be accomplished very easily and quickly, has eliminated 40,000 elevator operators in 15 years.

Reports to President Kennedy to congressional committees and to labor and business leaders abound with such evidences. Very few fields of endeavor have escaped the advance of automa-

Jobs no longer grow on trees, as we like to think they once did. We seem to be faced with the need to "create" new jobs at an astonishing pace in the next 10 years if we are to keep up with the tremendous additions to the work force

Whether your youngster can turn in 1970 from studying and having fun to doing productive work may depend in the end on how well the "creating" is done by all those concerned with the problem, from government down through business management to the labor unions.

Because, as in our punishment of children, there comes a point of no return in children's punishment of us.

It is the point at which our honest regret for mistake turns into esentment of the punisher. Most of us have had this experience as punished youngsters. We walked off with another child's toy and felt eal regret for our fault when it was explained to us. Then our parents started to belabor the point of our evil conduct. They involved return of the taken toy with so much humiliation that our punishment reached the point of no return. We stopped thinking about what we had done to the other fellow to start thinking about what was being ione to us. Our regret began to curdle into hate of our parents.

Like stupid parents, children will belabor us for some mistake. We fail to remember a telephone message to our son-and he pursues us with reproaches like a nagging mother. At the point of no At the point where our regret is beginning to turn into hate of

AN OPEN LETTER FROM CRIT HANELINE, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR IN THE PRIMARY ELECTION TUES., FEB. 28, 1961

There are many unsolved problems facing the next City Council. Most of these have been with us for some time and for various reasons have not been solved. The unnecessary loss of many of our shade trees, the unreasonable cost of city services, the differences between the Mayor and his Aldermen and the plain lack in some areas of adequate city services constitutes some of these

Perhaps the most important unsolved problem facing we citizens is that of the industrial waste flowing into our South Side sewer disposal plant. This problem has been working a hardship on all of the residents in the southeast part of town for three years. No action has been taken to abate this condition other than various meeting from which only vague references to causes and vague suggestions of solutions of the odors have been offered.

! called attention to this matter in an open letter published in our Jacksonville Journal and Courier starting Sunday, Feb. 19. I do not claim that this letter brought about any results. However on Monday night, Feb. 20, the Mayor brought the matter before the City Council in its regular meeting. He stated that there would be a meeting held soon to discuss the sewer plant problem. This meeting was held on Wednesday, Feb. 23 and was attended by all of the people involved.

The meeting was reported by the Illinois State Journal of Springfield, Ill., in part as follows:

Discuss Sewage Disposal Problem

February 24, 1961 JACKSONVILLE — The sewage disposal plant here is operating under such a heavy load, and its efficiency so drastically impaired, the City Council authorized an emergency meeting of its Sewer Committee, sanitation experts, and a representative of the State Dtpt. of Health.

Also attending the Wednesday night meeting were representatives of Anderson Clayton Co. Industrial waste from that company is reported a prime cause of sewage

Attending from Anderson-Clayton were Sam Pack, superintendent of the plant, Attending from Anderson-Clayton were sam Pack, superintendent of the plant, H. E. Seestrom and the company attorney, William L. Fay.

Pack told the conference "it is the company's intention to abide by the contract by which the city handles waste products. The company asked that it be furnished with the survey that had been made of the sewage disposal problem.

Dr. William Hatfield, sanitation engineer of Decatur, who has been checking the efficiency of the plant periodically for many months, has suggested two alternatives for improving sewage disposal: elimination of the industrial grease and fats at the source, or apple resemble of the present disposal plant.

enlargement of the present disposal plant.

The plant operates efficiently with a load comparable to a population equivalent of 35,000. The load a year ago was that of a population of 69,000. In August 1960 the load represented a population equivalent of 71,000. Average recent load is that of a population

Another survey by Caldwell and Rhoads, engineers of Jacksonville, further reported that grease from the industrial source so closs the sewer line, periodic cleaning must be undertaken.

One of the candidates for Mayor on the Republican primary ballot is employed in an executive capacity by Anderson Clayton Co. (Mrs. Tucker). I fail to see how a man, no matter how much he tries, can negotiate a matter of this kind and be fair to both his employers and the people he would represent as Mayor of this city. Anything short of an abatement of the discharge of this grease into the disposal plant will result in either a sewer tax or a sewer fee so that the plant can be enlarged to handle this grease.

The south side sewer plant was designed to handle normal sewerage for a population of 35,-000 people. The plant handles all sewerage south of East and West State streets including the Jacksonville State Hospital and the Village of South Jacksonville. It will no doubt be a good many years before the population of this side of Jacksonville will reach the 35,000 mark. It seems to me unfair we should be called on to enlarge our present adequate plant to accommodate the apparently unnecessary discharge of one industry's greases. Doubtless this part of their sewerage can be handled by them in a manner that would not be too expensive to their company.

This problem was one of the reasons I decided to enter the race for the office of Mayor. If you feel I understand this problem and if you feel that I am sincere when I state that I will do my best to solve it without undue hardship on Mrs. Tucker and that I will move into it as soon as possible then cast your vote for me in the primary this coming Tuesday.

> Sincerely, CRIT HANELINE.

Comet is one of the least expensive compacts you can ewn! These are the facts. Comet costs less when you buy—up to $331° below other compacts. Comet gives you high resale value—up to $546† more than other compacts. That's why it pays to ewn a Comet. But that's not all. Comet has fine-car features, too.

It's the first family-size compact Longer wheelbase-up to 7.5° longer than other compacts — means more Comet room, not only in pleasurable comfort-for-six seating but in over 28 cu. ft. of trunk space—up to twice as much as other compacts.

Comet's big-car ride is the comfort difference Extra length also contributes to Comet's road-leveling ride. The refined new suspension and easier-action springs give Comet a better ride than many standard cars. And you'll find Comet turns, parks and handles almost as easily as a tricycle! Talk about economy and you're talking Comet To save on gas, choose either of Comet's two thrifty engines. You change Comet oil only every 4,000 miles, get 10% better tire mileage, save on licenses and insurance. And Comet's superenamel finish won't cost you a cent for waxing—never needs it!

Both two- and four-door sedans and wagons Take your pick from sedans or wagons. Comet wagons have up to 30% more cargo space behind the front seat than most other compacts, plus a convenient roll-down rear window.

Lasting quality, even where it doesn't show Comet is quality, inside and out. Unit-built to keep quiet, stay sturdy and durable, Comet also has rustproofed vital underbody parts, complete soundproofing and an aluminized muffler.

Trembling, E d w in moved back from the door and reached out a hand to the wall. For a moment he was beyond any further movement or speech. It was a nightmare past all imagining, the sudden glimpse of that pallid, wasted face with its streaming, sunken eyes, its matted white hair, its bluish, lifeless lips pulled back upon the teeth in a horrible grimace of pleading. And the twisted, emaciated body in its tangle of nightdress. And the would never be able to catch up with him on foot. It takes more than headline-producing atom-age developments to keep the nation's fighting machine trim. Sketched are but three projects, products of Defense Department research.

• UNDERWATER STORAGE test using fuel, now under way by Navy's bureau of supplies, could result in solid materiel storage. Steel-and-nylon harness would anchor a flexible rubber container to ocean floor. Secure from surface radiation, blast, or explosion, units could be used to store solids for five years. They could be towed, loaded, to new locations.

• HONEYCOMB of heavy brown paper is development for the Quartermaster Corps. Placed between platform and material of air-dropped supplies, honeycomb collapses, absorbs shock as cargo lands. It weighs less than conventional materials. Smaller chutes can be used; costs pared. Coming: machines to make honeycomb in the field to simplify supply. • FLOATING POWER PLANT for the Air Force provides over 34,000 kilowatts of electricity and 123,000 pounds of steam per hour to a ballistic missile early warning system station in Greenland. Converted Navy ship represents savings of some 70 per cent over cost of a built-from-scratch plant with like capacity. Bonus: fewer men needed to operate.
